V. O. C. Journal 25th Anniversary

Nov. 18, 1982

Dear Grads,

"The V.O.C. needs a more contemporary image to present to the world than the one created in 1959 when the first journal was published." This statement by Susan J. Cushing, editor 1968, is even more applicable to the journal's 25th edition than it was 15 years ago. The climbing photograph on the cover of the 1968 journal is only one example of the changes in format that can be made to this year's journal in order to celebrate 25 years of publication. Any donations you could make to help bring about these improvements would be greatly appreciated, and of course a copy of the end product will be given to donators. We also encourage you to contribute to the journal, whether it be articles, photographs, or helping Journal Committee member Normand Fortier compile a history of the club. Please contact him if you are interested in helping out...
