Short trip notes:

Creeping over Challenging Crevasses: despite the sad weather and early wake up time 7 newbies and 3 instructors had enough stoke to go through most of the G1 curriculum on Seymour. By the end of the day everyone was soaked from self-arrestng in the wet snow, fingers tight in the knots from rope handling, and brains pulsing from streams of wisdom.

Cypress sunset skiing: "Last Tuesday six VOCers went to Mt. Strachan in the now-closed Cypress resort for some after work skiing. The snow was soft and the sunset was beautiful as promised!" - Birgit Rogalla

Deep Cove to Lynn Canyon Baden Powell Day Hike:"Mounir Kamal Puali Bustos, Linda Kiritchkov and two non-VOC friends planned to take Badden Powell trail to Seymour Mountain parking lot. Linda proposed an alternative trail which we ended up doing. It turned out that that route didn't go up to the Seymour parking lot, but it was still a lot of fun even though it rained for a part of the trip." - Alex Wharton

May BBQ: "Despite the heavy clouds and sporadic showers, the first BBQ of the summer was a big success. Veteran VOCers and brand new members all came together to celebrate the start of summer and chat about winter accomplishments or summer goals. We also had multiple slacklines, frisbee, and tons of good food to top it off. Make sure you check out the next BBQ on June 7th!" - Isobel Mouat

Peakbagging Leaderboard

In this section Ms. Manners will be following Peakbagging Challenge. Submit your peak harvest to this form by Monday midnight each week to be included in the next leaderboard update on VOCene. For more details see trip agenda and wiki page.

Ms. Manners

Hi Ms. Manners,

I want to organize a trip to Blue Pineapples Trail that I have never been before and I want to know more about it before going there. I tried asking my friends but they have never heard about it. Maybe you can help me find some information about it.

Thanks,

Adventure Seeker.

Hi Adventure,

I have also never heard about this trail, there is thousands of them on the Coast. Chances are you will be able to find this and any other existing trail in the coastal area on Bivouac.com. On that website you will also be able to find a log with the history of conditions of that trail written by members, find trail GPS track and access roads. Everything visualized on a map. The access to the site costs some money but it is totally worth it if you are a keen traveler.

PS. Also don't forget to leave a report on the Bivouac and VOC blog to let people know of your Pineapple harvest from your trip.

Cheers,

Ms. Manners.

Ye Olde VOC:

A weekly recollection of the past of the club.

In the late 1960s and early 1970s, Longhike was a mandatory introduction to the club in the form of a hike and evening celebration at the Whistler Cabin. New members would gather in groups by gender and perform a dance to music, referred to as the Chorus Line.

Quote of the Week:

"When you get to the summit and you push the watch, first you try to breath a little bit and get some oxygen in your lungs. When I saw this time I was like, 'Ah, that's not possible.' Yeah...that was a good moment."

--- Ueli Steck

Weekly recipe:

Every now and then I'll include a recipe from the VOC wiki here. Try them out and share yours!
